from the Director. Courtney Warner

Wishing you all a festive holiday and fantastic start to the New Year! Thank you for sharing yourself with us in the many ways all of you interact with us. We are honored to serve Carson City and honored you choose to share your time with us!

We've accomplished a lot in 2024 and I am excited to see what 2025 will bring. I hope you will continue to challenge us to do more, serve more, offer more, be even better, and do more for our community. Let's rise to the challenge and make 2025 amazing!

Celebrate safely, with others, and give loved ones a big embrace as we ring in the New Year!

RAFAEL OTERO

Rafael is grateful for the opportunity to serve diners who enjoy socializing and having lunch at the Senior Center. He finds that the interaction with them is very motivating and inspirational. As a volunteer, he appreciates giving back by accomplishing something positive in his schedule and receiving an aging process perspective on life's journey. He moved to Douglas County after relocating from his home in Oregon of 20 years to be closer to family and to join his brother and sister to share caregiving responsibilities for their father. Rafael appreciates spending his time being in service with other like-minded individuals and expanding his social circle. His skillset includes working on vehicles as a mechanic at Toyota and a public transportation department, and then reinvented himself as a B&B innkeeper for 7 years. He delights in saltwater fishing, house projects and vehicle maintenance.

UPCOMING Events

When: Tuesday, December 10 at 1:30 p.m. Where: Carson City Senior Center Nevada Room (West End) About the Event: Using extensive research, firsthand accounts and historic photos, local authors and historians David & Gayle Woodruff, recount a few of Western Nevada and Eastern California's most contemptuous (and sometimes even droll) acts of lawlessness and villainy, and the improbable hooligans, sinners and victims involved. From the peaceful and pastoral Paradise Valley to the glitz and glamor of the great gambling dens...crime (sometimes) does not pay...and justice...can be fleeting. A 55-minutes slide show. Free Event. RSVP not necessary.

When: Friday, December 6 at 1:00 p.m. Where: Carson City Senior Center Sagebrush Room (West End) About the Event: Holiday Music, Performances, Skits, and Festive Fun! Raffle Tickets for Purchase. Free Event. RSVP not necessary.

When: Tuesday, December 3 at 12:30 p.m. Where: Carson City Senior Center Joshua Tree (East End) About the Event: The delightful and touching stories in Christmas in Nevada tell how Nevadans have celebrated the holiday, from 1858 to the present day. Some are told by well-known Nevadans, such as Robert Laxalt, and former governors Bob List and Richard Bryan, but much more of the book shows ordinary Nevadans celebrating in diverse ways the wonders of the season. Free Event. RSVP not necessary.

Critical Thinking 2ND EDITION

When: December 9-13, 2024, a weeklong series, 10:00-11:30 a.m. Where: Carson City Senior Center Tahoe Room (East End) About the Event: Burke Pease returns with his highly acclaimed "Critical Thinking for Seniors" series. This exciting program helps seniors develop and maintain a healthy mind by sharpening their critical thinking skills. With lectures, discussions, exercises, and social interaction, each session will provide insight and skills for being a better thinker. Burke holds a Master's of Management degree and has been on the faculty of California State University Monterey Bay, Golden Gate University and the University of Phoenix. The event costs $20.00 Materials Fee (collected at the first session). Register by emailing: SrCtrCriticalThinking@gmail.com or call Presenter Burke Pease at (831) 224-3771.

HEALTHFUL EATING DURING THE HOLIDAYS

By Chelsea Minifie, RD, LD, Nutrition & Diabetes Education, Carson Tahoe Health

Eating healthy during the holidays can be fun and delicious! The holiday season is filled with special foods, but that does not mean we have to eat unhealthy things. One terrific way to start is by planning ahead. If you are hosting a holiday meal, think about including more fruit and vegetables. You can make colorful salads or roasted veggies that everyone will enjoy. Instead of heavy desserts, consider serving fresh fruit or baked apples with a sprinkle of cinnamon.

While planning, take into consideration eating a healthy balanced meal before your larger holiday meal, in other words don't skip meals or "save up" for your main meal. A fed person can make better choices than a hungry person. When it comes to drinks, water is the best choice. It keeps you hydrated and helps you feel full. If you want something festive, try making fruit-infused water with slices of oranges or berries. This way, you can still enjoy something special without all the sugar. If you do find yourself with an alcoholic or sugary beverage-moderation is key.

Another important tip is to watch your portion sizes. It is wonderful to try different foods, but taking smaller portions can help you enjoy everything without overeating. You can also choose to fill your plate with healthier options first, like salads or whole grains, before moving on to the richer dishes.

Be mindful of your stomach and how full you are, check in with your fullness and avoid overeating. This will help you stay on track with your health goals and avoid the discomfort that can follow when we have eaten just a bit too much.

Staying active is also key during the holidays. You can suggest a family walk after dinner or play games to get everyone moving. This not only helps with digestion and lowers blood sugars but also creates great memories.

Finally, remember to enjoy your time with family and friends. The holidays are about making connections, so focus on having fun together rather than just the food. By following these tips, you can have a happy and healthy holiday season filled with delicious foods and joyful moments!
